Brussels, April 20,-The opinion now is general in political circles that at the session of the Chamber of Deputies Tuesday the government will be prepared to accept the conciliatory motion of the Liberal leader, M. Masson. This provides that if the parliamentary committee appointed recently to con-sider the reform of the provincial and communal franchise system evolves a plan which appears to be a manifest improvement on the present methods, then the advisability of revising par-liamentary elections along the same lines shall immediately be considered.

The adoption of this motion by the chamber would mean the end of the strike, which is paralyzing Belgium's industries—a strike which, judging from present indications, has not yet reached anything like high water more moderate Clerical deputies do not sympathize with the government's uncompromising attitude. GAVELS OF HISTORIC VALUE

Important Matters, Including

Sembly, In addition to what is regarded as the regular business of each assembly. Among the special questions of importance to be considered is that with reference to the union of the United Presbyterian Church with the Southern Presbyterian Church, and this question will be presented in the report of the committee on conference, appointed by the assembly of 1912, which committee, in joint meeting with a similar committee appointed by the a similar committee appointed by the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, has prepared a basis of union for the two churches, and this basis of union will be presented to the General Assemblies of both churches for action. Just what this basis of union is has not been made known to others then the members known to others than the of the two committees. The union was agreed upon soveral weeks ago, but the two committees of con-ference decided that as a matter of courtesy to the assembles of both churches it should not be given pub-

until officially presented to these two bodies. Rev. R. C. Reed, D. D., of Columbia, S. C., is chairman of the committee of conference for the Southern Pres-byterian Church, and the following named ministers and laymen consti-tute the other members of this im-portant committee: Rev. S. L. Morris, D. D., of Atlanta; Rev. J. F. Cannon, D. D., of St. Louis; Allen G. Hall, of Nashville, and moderator of the as-sembly, of 1906, and W. F. Stevenson, of Cheraw, S. C. The General Assem-bly will awalt the presentation of no other report with a greater degree of interest than the report of the con mittee on conference, and there is no matter of greater importance to come before the body than the question of the union of these two churches.

The standards held by the United

The standards held by the United Presbyterian Church are the same as those held by the Southern Presbyterian Church, and in the same sense each church accepts them. The two churches possess the same Scotch an-cestry, adhere to the same polity and adminster the affairs of benevolences under the same departments. The distinct point of difference between the two churches is the exclusive use of Psalms in the service of praise in the United Presbyterian Church, and it is around this point, in all proba-bility, that the greatest discussion will centre in the consideration of the union of the two churches.

Four Other Questions.

There are four other questions to come before the General Assembly that will constitute outstanding features—The Federal Council, pro-posed changes in the form of government of the church, the "elect infant clause" and the brief popular state ment of doctrine of the church During the assembly of 1912, held at Bristol, delegates were appointed to represent the Southern Presbyterian Church in the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, which held its quadrennial meeting in December at Chicago. The report of these delegates will be heard with interest. It is not improbable that overtures will be presented to the assembly unging that it withdraw again sembly urging that it withdraw again from membership in the council, but it is likely that a second willidrawal from membership in the council will be opposed as ably as it will be recom

So also are all other elect persons, who are incapable of being outwardly called by the ministry of the word," this wording to be sub stituted by that now appearing in the Confession of Faith and which reads: "Elect infants dying in infancy, etc. The presbyteries have taken vote or the proposed change during the spring meetings, and the action of the general assembly in ordering a change in the wording of this paragraph of the Confession of Faith will be determined by the vote of the presbyteries. It is hardly to be expected that threefourths of the presbyteries will favor the proposed change, and it is not unlikely this question will be discussed as thoroughly during the Atlanta as-sembly as has been true during other assemblies. There is a growing desired upon the part of some prominent min isters of the church for this paragraph to be stricken from the Confession of Faith, and thus obliterate all ground for the supposition that any infant or other irresponsible person who dies can fail to be saved, and it is probable that more than one overture to that effect will be presented to the assembly at Atlanta.
